Death of Mrs. Lee.

The village was deeply saddened last Saturday by the death of Mrs. Ernest D. Lee. For several months she had been in feeble health, but her many friends hoped that she would recover, and her death seemed untimely and very sad. May Harvey was born in Concord, March 9, 1877, the daughter of Oscar and Ellen (Hill) Harvey. She was one of three children, a little boy who died many years ago, and a sister, Mrs Susie (Harvey) Brewer. Sept. 13, 1899, she was married to Mr. Lee, Mr. and Mrs. Lee always lived in the paternal home, where she was a source of inspiration and comfort to her invalid mother, who for many years has been confined to her home with rheumatism. Mrs. Lec was a woman possessed of many lovable qualities. She had a beautiful face and pleasant disposition, and was held in admiration and esteem by all who knew her. She belonged to that class of home loving women, whose home and family are everything. To them she gave un stinted love and devotion while her health permitted and for that family, deep sympathy is felt, and for the mother, who for so many years had depended upon her for strength and help, an especial sympathy is extended. She had always been affiliated with the Universalist church and was an esteemed member of the Y. P. C. U. She leaves besides her husband, her father and mother, her sister, and a nephew, Willard O. Brewer, of Vermont University. Funeral services were held from her late home Monday, at one o'clock, conducted by her pastor, Rev. Grant Van Blarcom, who spoke words of comfort from the text, "Now we see through a glass darkly," 1 Cor. 13-12. The race church quartet from St. Johnsbury sang. The flowers were many and very beauti ful silent tokens of the esteem in which the deceased was held. Out of respect to Mr. Lee the merchants closed their stores during the hour of the funeral. The interment was at East St. Johnsbury. Those called here to attend the funeral were Willard Brewer. An Interesting Reminiscence.

John H. Damon of this town passed his 86th birthday, Wednesday, January 22. During the day several called to extend congratulations. Mr. Damon was born in what is known as the old famous vellow house in Cabot, which was the first framed house in town, his father being one of the first settlers, coming to town in 1787. It is related of him that the first grist of wheat that he had garnered after coming here, he drew on a hand sled to Newbury, a distance of 25 miles. Later in the winter they went with an ox team, and he took some grists for his neighbors, the journey requiring four or five days to go to mill. Mr. Damon has the side saddle that his mother rode to town upon when she came to her home in the wilderness. It is well preserved, and used occasionally, being now 130 years old. Mr. Damon was a business man of the town in his younger days, and is now very smart for one of his years, preferring to walk to the post office and to church on Sunday, a distance of one mile, rather than have may be spared to see many more birthdays

Costume Party.

The Shakespeare club gave a gay party in Darling's hall Friday evening, the guests including the club members and their husbands, and about as many invited guests. The idea was for the club members to assume characters in Shakespeare's plays, which they have been studying for the last two years, and give the guests an opportunity to guess them. So the club members appeared in fancy costumes. The guests were given lists of the characters assumed, and requested to write the names of the ladies opposite them. This required some study, and a good deal of questioning, and afforded much amusement. The costumes were all very successful, many of them beautiful, and all appropriate. Following is the list of characters, and the ladies taking them: Bianca, Mrs. E. J. Bodgett; Katherine, Mrs. L. C. Todd; Imogene, Mrs. P. S. Clark; Cardinal Wolsey, Mrs. speaking this evening. J. W. Copeland; Volumnia, Mrs. C. M. Darling; Rosalind, Miss Bessie Lewis; Hermia, Mrs. Roy Gage; Ophelia, Mrs. C. L. Goodwin; Regan, Mrs. E. H. Hoff-man; Portia, Mrs. E. V. Perkins; Olivia, Mrs. A. C. B. Hutchinson; Ghost, (from Hamlet), Mrs. W. B. Wilmot; Hamlet, Mrs. H. L. Parker; Anne Page, Miss Ida Pearl. After some time had been spent in admiring and conversing with these distinguished people, the correct list was read. The president, Mrs. Chase, then announced that a series of tableaux from Shakeslately from Montana, are visiting their peare would be given. These were given on an improvised stage and the parts were all taken by "club children." It is unnecessary to state that they were highly successful. Mrs. Chase gave a brief and interesting sketch before each tableaux, which served to explain it, and recall all the circumstances to memories just a little rusty.

The list of tableaux, plays and actors, is as tollows: Romeo and Juliet, Charles and Carolyn Darling; Olivia and Malvolio, from Twelfth Night, Pearl Wilmot and Clifford Todd; Sleep-walking scene from Macbeth, Rowena Clark; Petruchio and Katharine, from Taming of the Shrew, Harold Ahern and Ruth Me-well; King Lear and Cordelia from ing Lear, Charles Darling and Avis rodd; Hamlet and Ophelia, Geneva Wilmot and Beth Todd; Hamlet and Polonius, Geneva Wilmot, Charles Darling and Mrs. J. S. Schofield; Choosing the casket, from Merchant of Venice, Charles and Carolyn Darling and Flavia Folsom. Following the tableaux dancing was indulged in until about midnight, Mrs. Brock furnishing music. Punch was served. The whole party was a decided success, and a great deal of credit is due to the members of the social committee, who spent much time, thought and energy in the preparations.

Frasier's store caught fire by kerosene lamp exploding in his back store Saturday evening at about 8 o'clock and and in less time than it takes to tell it the room was full of smoke making it impossible to stay in the building. Mr. Frasier by the help of two or three succeeded in getting the mail boxes out and he gathered up all the mail and put it into the mail bag and gave it to some one to carry out but they dropped it in the building and it was burned. They saved but very few goods in the store or household goods upstairs. Mrs. Frasier, who was up stairs at the time got out a few things but the stock was nearly a total loss Mr. Frasier at this writing estimates his loss at from $5000 to $6000 after taking out his insurance. A cash register with from $100 to $150 in it was burned. Some of his papers in his safe were not much burned. The building belonged to D. C. Farrington and is insured but do not know for how much. It is a great loss to Mr. Frasier and to the place and public. It was a finely equipped store with a big stock of goods and was having a good trade for several miles around. The post office is moved into the depot for the present, The tenement house east of the store occupied by Thomas Founier was burned. They succeeded in saving all his household goods except two stoves. The building was owned by Mr. Elliott and was insured. It was a hard fight to keep Clayton Farrington's buildings from burning. Such fires are a great loss to a small village like this and the people are too often called out to see their places of business go up in fire and smoke, seems that with the water and power we have here we might have arrange ments for fighting fires.
